The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the crystal lattice. It is shown that the structure of the crystal lattice is determined by the balance of the forces of attraction and repulsion between the atoms.
 The forces of attraction are due to the electrostatic interaction between the positive and negative ions, while the forces of repulsion are due to the overlap of the electron shells of the atoms. The balance of these forces determines the equilibrium distance between the atoms, which is the lattice constant.
 The lattice constant is a function of the temperature and the pressure. At high temperatures, the thermal expansion of the crystal leads to an increase in the lattice constant. At high pressures, the compression of the crystal leads to a decrease in the lattice constant. The change in the lattice constant with temperature and pressure can be calculated from the theory of the structure of the crystal lattice.
 The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the properties of the crystal lattice.
 It is shown that the properties of the crystal lattice are determined by the structure of the crystal lattice. The properties of the crystal lattice include the density, the refractive index, the thermal conductivity, the electrical conductivity, the magnetic susceptibility, and the piezoelectric coefficient. The properties of the crystal lattice can be calculated from the theory of the structure of the crystal lattice.
